My dear Mr. Tipton:

Will you kindly forward us with bill enclosed an 8 x 10 glossy print of the full sized Lincoln statue on the Pennsylvania State Monument. This should be a close up, if you have more than one view.

Very sincerely yours,

Director

PENNSYLVANIA MONUMENT

ERECTED by the State of Pennsylvania at Gettysburg. Around the base are placed bronze tablets on which are recorded the names of 34,530 officers and enlisted men who participated in the battle. Standing between the beautiful Ionic columns are bronze portrait statues of Lincoln, Curtin, Birney, Hancock, Gregg, Pleasonton, Reynolds and Meade. Over the arches are bas-reliefs representing the four arms of the service, the artillery, the cavalry, the infantry and the signal corps. Above this is a dome and surmounting it all is a bronze figure of Victory. One of the tablets on the interior wall is "To the loyal women, . . . dedicated in grateful recognition of their patriotism."

Great credit is due L. W. Cottrell, the architect, and the Harrison Granite Company, the contractors and builder of the monument. Especial credit should also be given W. B. Van Amringe, who received the commission for the execution of the eight portrait bronze statues, and under whose personal supervision the same were executed. Each statue is typical of the man, expressive and dignified, impressing one instantly with the thought that under the guidance of such men only victory could have been expected. Their solemn dignity makes the monument grandly impressive and worthy to take rank with the best in the world.
